

NEWS BY YOU

DEIRDRE HAMILL/THE REPUBLIC

After their performance at Kierland Commons, members of the Gin Blossoms will serve Cold Stone Creamery ice cream.

Gin Blossoms to perform free to aid hospital's neonatal unit

What: Popular recording artists the Gin Blossoms will perform a free acoustic show to benefit the Level III neonatal intensive care unit at Scottsdale Healthcare Shea, known as the Bowe Special Care Nursery. Following the performance, band members will serve Cold Stone ice cream and auction a Fender Telecaster guitar signed by the band. Cold Stone Creamery is donating 50 percent of the day's proceeds to the neonatal unit. Proceeds from the silent auction and ice cream sales will help purchase equipment to help give newborns in the Scottsdale Healthcare Shea neonatal unit a fighting chance to live. Proceeds will support the Level III neonatal intensive care unit's ability to care for critically ill newborns and high-risk pregnancies.

When: The Scoops of Love fundraiser April 2 starts at 6 p.m. with a free outdoor performance by the Gin Blossoms at Kierland Commons in Scottsdale.

Where: Cold Stone Creamery at Kierland Commons, 15034 N. Scottsdale Road, Scottsdale, is near of Greenway Parkway and Scottsdale Road.

Other details: Admission is free. The Little Legends, a Scottsdale Healthcare Shea neonatal intensive-care unit parent support group, are organizing the show. The Scoops of Love theme honors the staff in the Bowe Special Care Nursery. For more information, call Kierland Commons management office at 480-348-1577.